WHEAT BOARD PLAN IS AGAIN DISCARDED

Winnipeg, June 23.—After prolonged conferences and negotiations, the premiers of Alberta and Saskatchewan have reached the conclusion that it is not possible to form a satisfactory wheat board. This decision is a disappointment to the farmers' organizations who have been in conference here during this week with C. A. Dunning, premier of Saskatchewan, and Herbert Greenfield, premier of Alberta. Last night a statement reviewing the negotiations and announcing the abandonment of the effort to form a board was issued, with the signatures of the two premiers, who are to leave for their homes at once.

"We have found it impossible," said the statement, "to secure a board combining the necessary elements of experience, ability and public confidence." The situation was made more difficult, it is stated, by the decision of the Manitoba legislature to not cooperate with the western provinces. This made it certain that the trading in wheat on the Winnipeg exchange would continue and men who might have been available had the proposed compulsory board applied to all three provinces, would not accept the responsibility for marketing the crop of two provinces only. Failure of wheat board plans for the second year in succession will leave the western wheat crop to be marketed under existing machinery. While there has been talk from time to time of a voluntary pool, no definite steps have been taken in that direction.

concerned about is that trains run on time and that papers are published promptly. If the public suffered inconveniences through these half holidays as they do on the whole of the stores, you would soon see how quickly the crop year would be put on full time. When God made the world God worked six days and rested on the seventh, but it appears to me nowadays that there is a class of people that do not want to work six days and who do not want to rest on the seventh.

My criticism was directed chiefly against the U.F.A. store because I have my money tied up there, and I claim I have a right to say something if I feel like it. My money together with that of other shareholders was subscribed to enable the store to do business and serve the farmers, not to close its doors and turn its customers away when they should be open and doing business. As to public opinion being in favor of the half holiday as stated by Mr. Moon I can assure him he is sadly mistaken. All he has to do is to make inquiries through the country or walk the streets of Wetaskiwin. Wednesday afternoons, when indignant farmers have been trying to make their purchases and he will soon change his mind. I am positive that practically every farmer objects to Wednesday closing. Some may not feel like denouncing it publicly but will secure their supplies where they can do so and say nothing, and our store is the loser.

But the most astonishing portion of Mr. Moon's letter and the part that should give the shareholders utmost concern is where he makes the statement that the directors of the U.F.A. on every occasion when the question of a half holiday has come up for discussion has taken the stand unanimously that this was a question of the business men of the town to decide and that they were willing to abide by their decision. Just read that over again and let it sink in good and plenty. Can it be that our directors are proving false to the trust reposed in them by the shareholders and letting the other business men of the city dictate to them how our store should be run? I claim the U.F.A. should run their own business. They should be independent of and not interfere with any other business whatever. When we invested our money and started this business we were told that the shareholders could save money by getting supplies through the U.F.A. and make money by cooperative shipping of grain and livestock, thus eliminating the middlemen to our great financial advantage, but our anticipations have not been fulfilled, our ideals have not been realized.

It appears to me that we are rapidly following in the footsteps of other organizations. Mr. Editor for your valuable space.

"Shareholder".

REINS OF POWER IN ONTARIO
SNATCHED FROM U.F.O. - LABOR
COALITION BY CONSERVATIVES

Toronto, June 26.—Hon. E. C. Drury will, it is expected, place the resignations of himself and the members of his cabinet in the hands of the lieutenant-governor this week, as the result of his decisive defeat at the United Farmer-Labor government in the election for the provincial legislature yesterday.

Hon. Howard Ferguson, the Conservative leader, who is assured of at least 77 members in the legislature of 111 seats, is said to have pretty well made up his mind as to the composition of the new Conservative government which he will be called upon to form.

With one riding, Lincoln, yet to be heard from, the latest check-up in Ontario gives the Conservatives a clear majority of 44 over all in the new legislature.

The standing of the parties is:

Conservatives	77
Liberals	15
United Farmers	13
Labor	4
Independent	1
Undecided	1
Total Seats	111

WEBERG — JOHNSON

A very pretty and peaceful June wedding was solemnized at the home of the bride on Friday, June 22, when Miss Victoria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Y. Johnson, of Malmø, was united in marriage to Albert Webberg, of Ferintosh, the Rev. Quarnstrom officiating. The house was beautifully decorated in pink and white streamers and lovely June flowers.

The bride was attired in a pretty dress of white radium lace over sky blue, and wore a veil and wreath of orange blossoms. The bride's sister Ellen, acted as bridesmaid. David Helming, a nephew of the bride, acted as best man. Miss Nannie Helming, niece of the bride, played the wedding march, and Miss Ruth Quarnstrom carried the bride's flowers, consisting of June roses, and red lilies.

After the ceremony the bride couple were the recipients of congratulations and many lovely presents, including silver, china, linen and nickel. A tasteful supper was served from the dining room table, which was decorated with streamers and flowers. Before the wedding party broke up, the bride gave each one a taste of the wedding cake and home made candy.

The happy couple will make their home on the groom's farm near Ferintosh. A long and prosperous life is the wish of all who know the newlyweds.

THE BIG FIGHT TO BE HEARD BY RADIO

R. M. Snyder is making plans for the reception by radio at his hardware store of a blow-by-blow account of the big fight at Shelby, Montana, next Wednesday afternoon, July 1. W. W. Grant of Calgary will receive the "dope" by leased wire direct from the ringside and relay it from the broadcasting station of the Calgary Alberta. Court Reporter Barnett and his assistant will work a double shift on the receivers in Snyder's store; one taking the report in shorthand from the phones, while the other takes the shorthand reports and reads them aloud. A second listener in will work with the shorthand writer, to give a check on any dubious reception. It is not known yet at what hour during the afternoon the fight will start, but including the preliminaries, at least a three-hour session is expected.

Card of Thanks

Mrs. E. N. Skoye and family wish through the columns of The Times to express their appreciation of the kindness extended by friends and neighbors during the illness and death of their husband and father. Also for the beautiful floral offerings.

New Long Distance Record

Long distance telephone communication was established between Alberta and Winnipeg the past week, when, in a test made at Calgary, Geo. Headley, acting premier, spoke to Prime Minister Lavery, of the Manitoba government. The test was satisfactory in every way. This is the first time such phone connection has been established.

Ottawa, June 26.—Supplementary estimates tabled in the house today contain a vote of two hundred thousand dollars for an internal hospital elevator at Edmonton in connection with the development of the Pacific route for grain shipments. It is expected that work will be started shortly on the elevator, which will cost in the neighborhood of half a million dollars.

There is also a vote of fifty thousand dollars for surveys and investigation of a railway from a point on the Canadian National toward Peace River. This survey, it is expected, will be towards the Hoppe autocratic coal lands, northwest of Brule, which are said to be the most valuable in Canada.

MANITOBA DECLARES FOR THE GOVERNMENT CONTROL OF LIQUOR BY BIG MAJORITY

Winnipeg, June 23.—Manitoba has declared for government control of liquor by over 33,000 majority. The complete vote in Winnipeg city gave a vote majority of 25,732, in a total vote of 66,094. There was a total registration of 76,000. Only six polls in Winnipeg gave dry majorities. The suburbs all went wet. Brandon, the second city in the province, had a wet majority of 992. Portage la Prairie figures were wet, 1,630; dry 1,101.

Thirteen country districts so far reported give a wet majority of around 6,600.

A severe electrical storm shortly after the polls closed complicated the work of collecting returns, and nothing whatever has been received from several constituencies.

The wet majority, however, is so overwhelming that, but for errors, it can have no material effect upon it.

cial department of health, notifying the board that after this date the government would make no allowance in their grant for the day of discharge. This will mean a reduction in the grant to the hospital of $125.00.

Letters from the minister of health were received, granting his approval of the agreements carried out between the hospital board and the city and also between the board and the Municipal District of Montebello.

The provincial department of health wrote drawing attention to the new regulations for admission of patients suffering from incurable diseases, and reducing the charges from $3 per day to $1.50 for such cases.

The board acknowledged the donation of an electric bedside lamp from the Masonic Lodge.

Miss Moore, the nurse, reported nine patients in the hospital at the end of the month and the total number of hospital days for May as 136.

The matter of special rates for infants and children was left to the discretion of the matron.

Chairman Smith finished details of operation costs and stated that the cost of meals during May was 18½ cents per meal.

Messrs. H. J. Montgomery and G. L. Gothard reported as visiting committee for May, that they had made their official visit and found everything satisfactory. They suggested sundry improvements and repairs that might be made.

Mrs. Hogan reported on the work of the household committee and what they had done during the month, including the planting of trees on the west side of the building.

The finance committee reported a very successful meeting with the council of the Bigstone Municipality whereby they had agreed to take over all the old accounts amounting to $1200 and give a grant in addition of $300 to cover indigent patients in future.

The committee also reported a meeting with the council of Millat. The monthly accounts amounting to $24.53 were passed and orders given to increase the insurance on the hospital by $2000.

In consideration of the grant from the Bigstone Municipal District, Mr. Westendorf was appointed by the city council a member of the hospital board to represent Bigstone at the board meetings.

After some discussion it was decided to grant a two weeks' holiday to each of the nurses during the year and also the kitchen staff.

The matter of placing a table in each ward was mentioned and it was thought this matter could be left to the churches. The Order of the Eastern Star have donated a bible for their ward.

After Mrs. Hogan and Mr. L. H. Newville had been appointed members of the visiting committee for the current month, the meeting adjourned.

A letter from the department of neglected children states that they have about 15 boys and a few baby girls, from one to three months old to be placed in good homes. Any person desiring to secure a little boy or girl should apply to the Superintendent of Dependent and Neglected Children, Edmonton.

BAD BLOOD BROKE OUT IN PIMPLES and BOILS

Miss Irene A. Matthews, Stayner, Ont., writes:—"I thought I would write and tell you of the experience and benefit I have derived from Burdock Blood Bitters."

Some few months ago I was troubled with bad blood which broke out on my face in the nature of pimples, boils and ringworms, and I got so bad I really did not know what to do.

I was ashamed to go anywhere, and the itching and burning caused such a terrible sensation I could get no relief day or night.

One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I used one bottle and felt quite a relief, and by the time I had taken 3 bottles I was completely relieved.

I cannot praise B.B.B. enough and I hope anyone afflicted like I was will get the same benefit I received.

Burdock Blood Bitters is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

A SOD HOUSE

(By Percy H. Wright)

Allen was building his home. He was prodigiously happy. As he labored upon it, all the difficulties of the future seemed to melt away. He saw all the good things he was to enjoy and the good things he was to perform while he lived in it. Those were golden hours.

What did it matter that it was only a sod house? He did not notice they were sods. He was visualizing this frame house that was to stand in its place some time, already.

His heart sang as he worked away, but he did not sleep along his thoughts were too busy with the better he would write that very night to tell her all about it:

"Dear Joan

I have found the perfect place at last. You don't know how beautiful it is here! I have found a location in the park-plot, in gently rolling ground interspersed with broad level places over which you look. I have chosen a high spot for our house, and yet there is a small lake not far off. To be near water, and to live on a high place where I can see great stretches have always been deep desires in my heart.

"I have chosen the exact place for the better house that is going to be, subject to your approval, when you come. But I am not making this temporary one on it, for I want a new clean place for it.

"Oh, I am so glad God made this marvellous west to be a refuge for the overcrowded peoples of other lands. I believe you and I will find here the perfect environment. After my experience of the city, I feel that this is a return to nature, and a natural mode of living. We will not have to compete in the great gathering places of competition, the cities, where real food and real leisure are unobtainable and where a family is 75 out of place as a bird's nest in Niagara. We will eat our own produce, and sitting on our verandah in the shade of the evening, watch the rest of the world go by.

"Oh, I am enthused with it all. The freedom! The nature! The out-of-door life, but most of all, with the big job I have tackled, a man's job, and with the prospect of our love and companionship together in this place.

"The sun shines brightly on us, my dear. The days are actually going by with a speed that is amazing, but they are all too slow in my desire for the realization of my dreams. Come future—and you!

"For, dear Joan, though I am very happy in my work, I miss your presence so much that my hope of having it soon is a very small consolation.

"Goodbye, your ever steadfast lover, Allen."

That evening, in the shack of his hospitable neighbor, Avery, he wrote the letter he had planned, and now, way back in the east, Miss Joan had received it.

She reads it without showing either joy or displeasure. She looks at it steadily, with a slightly concerned expression.

Seeing her father in his easy chair in the library, she gives him the letter, saying:—

"Here, dad, I'll allow you to read this one this time."

He was a long, bony man, with wise, grey eyes. He took the letter, and proceeded to read it slowly.

Joan sat down on a chair in the corner, waiting for him to finish and make his comment. Now and then he would seem to be mentally marking a significant phrase.

"This, my Joan, is quite like what I would have expected of him," evidently he has struck a pretty place, and had an eye for the beauty of it, and he is very happy in his expectations. But, taking his letter as a whole, I find it very impractical. All through the letter I sense it. He does not know farming conditions and that farmers compete as much or more than any other class. He has made two great mistakes already. He should have taken his homestead in the open prairie country where he would not have to clear it. On the plains he would make as much progress in three years, as he will in a dozen in the park country. And, secondly, he has started without enough capital, as the use of the sod house shows. He should have worked out another year and obtained a larger sum to begin with. Did you not tell me that he only had four hundred? That is wholly inadequate. It takes three thousand dollars at least to properly equip a farm, and then to earn interest on that sum, it is necessary that a large acreage be served by the equipment—at least three hundred acres.

"As he is situated he will clear ten acres this year, and add another ten next year, an idea farm will be a money loser and a sorry user all that time. And as for that phrase 'perfect environment'—it is incorrect, for the social factor is absent under the pioneer conditions, as you would soon find out. You are making a social place for yourself here which is valuable, and which you will exchange for absolute barrenness of social life. Then, again, he evidently expects you to be willing to live in the sod house for a certain length of time, which, of course, is preposterous.

"Now, my Joan, you already know my position in regard to your engagement to this man. Even were you to put off your marriage for two years, instead of one, you would not escape the poverty and the sod house. And by that time both your love and his will have grown colder. Oh, I know, I don't believe in absentee courtships and long engagements. Absence is treacherous in its power to cause forgetfulness.

"I do not wish to see you take up the lot of a farmer's wife. We may not be rich here, but we are comfortable, and it is all due to what I have earned since I came to town. I tell you positively that country life is on a distinctly lower standard in regard to life's little luxuries. Therefore, I advise you to give up your dreamy homesteader and encourage Abercrombie in his place, for, though Findlay may not be able to provide for you, he certainly can."

Joan stood before him with her eyes to the ground, listening to, and weighing every word, and realizing all too keenly their truth and force.

She did not reply.

"Do you understand, daughter?" he asked.

"Yes."

"Well, then, go and think it over. Here is your letter."

She took it from him and went out. The doorbell rang and the mail came to her.

"Mr. Abercrombie calling for you, Miss."

"Alright, tell him that I will be down in about twenty minutes. When she came down, he took her to the opera, as he had arranged to do last night.

All during the opera she was not thinking of the subjects presented to her, but of the two men, of the man beside her, and of the warmer lover so far away.

"Which?" she thought.

"Shall it be ease and no romance, or work and love?—maybe the two latter of a superlative degree. How heartbroken Allen will be, and how disappointed in womanhood, if I marry Abercrombie and desert him. But that really is the wiser course. Shall I follow wisdom or idealism? Really I hate to do anything that is not very wise. Oh, that their two paths ran together."

Before he took her home again, he found opportunity to whisper a soft suggestion in her ear.

"I will tell you tomorrow, John," she whispered back.

A few weeks elapsed, and the sod house is completed, while even the work on the stable is well under way.

Allen was hoarding himself now, but that morning neighbor Avery had passed on his fortnightly trip to the town, and Allen had stopped him and given him a long list of groceries to buy and the request that he remember particularly to get his mail, for he was expecting a letter, or maybe two.

Therefore, as he piled sod upon sod, he kept a sharp lookout for his return. He caught sight of a small black speck and a small white speck beside it about three miles away, before he stopped his work, and went in to make ready for himself and the traveller whom he had asked to have supper with him.

A little later he heard a loud "Whon!" by the door. He turned the last flapjack and rushed out.

Joan in a politely worn dress, sat serenely upon the seat of the big double wagon.

"Hello, Allen!" she cried. "Let us have a boat for the lake."

"Joan!"

"Avery spoke. 'Well neighbor Findlay it looks as though I brought you an unexpected parcel. I tried to get out of it, but the lady begged and begged, and said she belonged here.'"

"My good fellow . . . Joan, what made you do it?"

"Well, dad said love waned with absence, so I knew it was now or never, and so I was now."

"Joan, are you really . . . do you really mean to say that you are willing to marry me with conditions such as these?"

"Yes, dear, tomorrow you can hitch up . . . those . . . those oxen, and we will go back to town for that very purpose."

AND DIVIDE YOUR DOLLAR WITH YOUR NEIGHBOR

Everybody has a certain amount of Civic Pride—that sort of pride which helps make a village a town and a town a metropolitan city.

The growth of any community is dependent upon the support given its citizens. If we fail in our cooperation the town either stands still or retrogrades. If we uphold the town by sustaining it wholeheartedly we help ourselves and the community. The theme of this advertisement is "Help our town, buy at home"

Let us divide our dollars among our merchants and fellow-citizens who have the interests of the community at heart. Help them and they will help us to greater values—for increased volume means decreased costs.

The city needs our support and we need the support of the town. Let's get together and share our fortunes.

Manitoba's
Verdict

Not only was the result of the referendum on government control in Manitoba some indication of the feeling at present on prohibition in the prairie provinces, but the result of the vote there yesterday will have a direct effect upon the vote in this province. The result is discouraging to the supporters of prohibition and points very strongly to the defeat of prohibition in this province. The dry sentiment may be somewhat stronger in Alberta than in Manitoba. The rural vote in proportion to the total vote is larger in this province than in Manitoba. We are nearer to the province of British Columbia and understand better than the people of Manitoba the evils and the possibilities of the working out of government control. However, the outlook for holding prohibition in this province is not of the best, unless those who favor the cause work very hard, Alberta.

The Wheat Board

For the second time the premiers of Alberta and Saskatchewan have been unable to organize a wheat board. That doubtless puts an end to the effort of farmer administration seeking the state marketing of grain. It was said some months ago that neither of the three western premiers believed in a wheat board, although all three professed to advocate it. Whether that is true or not, it is certain that Premier Greenfield and Premier Manning made a very vigorous effort to carry out the instructions of their legislatures and organize the board.

Quite possibly they place the failure of their efforts on the Manitoba legislature, which declined to share in the provincial marketing plan. They might be justified in narrowing the responsibility for the failure to the Manitoba legislature. The vote in the Manitoba legislature was very close and the members of the government divided, three voting against participating in the wheat board. Last year the two premiers failed in their effort at securing the national marketing of wheat because of limited time and inaction of Manitoba. This year, with more time, they had no better results.

There seems to be little hope of a change of heart on the part of the Manitoba government, and the wheat board may now be placed among the disappointed hopes of the farmer party in the west. Whether this failure is to be followed by an effort at a voluntary wheat pool, time alone can tell. Nothing can be done this year.

The Royal Grain
Inquiry Commission

For twenty years, more or less, there has been a continual protest from the farmers of Western Canada in regard to our present system of marketing grain. That protest has continued even since the adoption of the present elevator system. The farmers have protested against the elevator companies, the grain exchange, the railways, the exporters, and every other person who had anything to do with the marketing. We find no fault with these protests—human institutions are fallible. It may be the fault-finding was justified. The whole marketing system of grain in western Canada has grown up and developed within the past few years. It is absurd to expect it to be perfect, or even capable of meeting the demands made upon it. It may be true that this system is not the best that can be devised. Some of the ablest men in Canada have condemned it. Many of the keenest minds have praised it, but the point we want to make now is that the government has appointed ed a commission to investigate the whole business, and it is the duty of farmers and of all others interested to state their problems before this commission as clearly as possible with the one idea of helping to devise means of improvement.

The commission began at Edmonton on June 25th. It goes to Stettler on the 27th, Calgary on the 28th, at Vauxley on July 4, Carleton Place, Leithbridge on the 8th, Charlton on the 11th, and Alask on the 13th. The meetings cover the province in a broad and general way. All those who lay any claim to special knowledge of marketing problems should attend these meetings prepared to give evidence that will save the particular problems in hand.

Wheat Crop

The president of the Winnipeg grain exchange, after a trip through the three provinces, declares that, should there be no serious impairment between now and harvest, "the west looks like astonishing the world with a 500,000,000 bushel wheat crop. It is too early to count on any such yield, but if the balance of the season carries out the promise of the first part, there can be no doubt about that production being attained. Last year the west produced 375,000,000 bushels and there were large sections which were away below the average. This year the wheat acreage is estimated at practically the same as in 1922 and there is no part of the country where conditions are not unusually favorable. The only exception till a couple of weeks ago was in the Peace River country, but heavy rains have since fallen there and, as they are in plenty of time the spirit of cheerfulness now pervades that territory. The C.P.R. general superintendent the other day said that he looked for at least a 100,000,000 bushel wheat crop in Alberta. As it is evident that the official estimates for 1922 were too low and that there was a production of 75,000,000 bushels, the C.P.R. superintendent's figures for the present year should be easily reached, if there is no setback. The conner grains, which last year did much more poorly than wheat, should make a still larger advance. If the forecast of the head of the grain exchange should be realized and the west could boast of a half billion wheat crop, with other grains in proportion, not only would it mean an immense direct addition to the country's wealth, but its indirect influence in drawing attention anew to our possibilities would be very great and immigration would be immediately stimulated.

Board Abandoned
Once More

The premiers of Alberta and Saskatchewan have at last announced that there will be no wheat board this year. They have "found it impossible to secure a board combining all necessary elements of experience and ability and public confidence." That this would be the result of a renewal of their effort should have been apparent to them two months ago, when Manitoba decided not to cooperate in the scheme. As the premiers say in their statement, they were, after the Manitoba decision, placed in a similar position of that of one year ago. In view of the complete failure of a year ago, they should never, with the conditions similar to those prevailing then, have gone on with the attempt to organize the board. In doing so they have exposed the farmers of the two provinces to heavy losses in the marketing of the heavy crop that is in prospect. For weeks past buyers have been willing and anxious to make contracts for wheat purchases, but could do nothing so long as there was a possibility that a board would be brought into existence. There is, however, reason for congratulation in the fact that matters have not been allowed to drift until so late a date as in 1922. The abandonment decision has been taken six weeks earlier than last. It is not only through the direct loss to those who will have wheat to sell that the public interests have suffered as a result of the following of this will-o'-the-wisp for a second year by the premiers. Mr. Greenfield has been away from his post duty while matters of great consequence were demanding his close attention here. A general state of uncertainty has been created and we can be very thankful that at last the question of a compulsory board is out of the way. That it will ever be taken up again is quite incredible. This however, does not mean that there will be no voluntary wheat marketing enterprise. Mr. Dunning last December urged that this should be proceeded with, but he was unable to carry his idea through and was forced by police pressure to go on once again with the effort to form a compulsory wheat board. The statement now issued by him and Mr. Greenfield does not indicate that any steps have been taken for the establishment of a voluntary pool this year. If they had been taken last December, such a pool might have been in operation for the handling of the present crop. But it is obviously too late now to do anything along that line and the only safe thing is to allow the trade to be conducted in its ordinary channels.—Journal.

ON THE FARM

The farmers are plowing and sowing their hops, and, weather allowing, they'll harvest some crops. If rain when its needed shall fall from the sky, the country now seeded, shall blossom with rye. If hail doesn't flatten his corn where it grows, the farmer will fatten his porkers in grove. All nature is grinning, no one appears he feels sure of winning a triumph this year. His mules sisters and sing with his aunts. If in a lather, he labors afield; I hope he may gather a bountiful yield.—Wait Macon.

In Spring he's forgetting the failures he's known, the toiling, sweating, the grief and the groan. All nature is grinning, no one appears he feels sure of winning a triumph this year. Means Independence At Threshing Time

TO BE your own thresherman, to thresh when you please—thresh when the grain is in the best possible condition, with your own power—and always at the lowest cost per bushel—that's independence at threshing time—independence which means real dollars on any farm.

The Aultman-Taylor New Century Thresher—either the 23x36 or the 27x42—will give you this independence. These sizes are built for individual use on the farm.

Saves all the Grain

The New Century will save you those invariably lost bushels that are bound to find their way to the straw stack in the old vibrator type of thresher. The Universal Rotary Straw Rack and Inclined Open Web attend to that. With the rotary action of the Universal Rack the straw must be kept moving. These two devices absolutely prevent clogging, double the capacity and insure perfect separation.

Four Sizes—All Standard

Besides the New Century 23x36 and the 27x42, Aultman-Taylor builds two larger size threshers. All are absolutely standard in design and construction.

The sole difference between the largest and smallest New Century Thresher is one of size.

Issued by the Publicity Commissioner, Government buildings, Edmonton, Friday, June 22—

High Point for Irrigation Bonds
A high point was reached this week in offers for irrigation bonds, when an issue of $100,000 of United Irrigation District bonds were sold by the provincial government to the British American Bond Corporation, of Vancouver, for 103. The issue, which carries the government guarantee, was put through by the provincial treasury in behalf of the board of trustees of the irrigation district. This sale completes the issue of $500,000 for the district. A sale was also made of $200,500 of New West Irrigation district bonds at 102.51.

Express Rate Hearing

At a sitting in Edmonton, June 26, the railway commission of Canada will hear the application of Alfred Chard, freight supervisor for the provincial government for a better commodity express rate on egg shipment particularly for the benefit of smaller shippers.

Farmerettes Visit Province

On a tour of western Canada which is part of a scholarship provided by Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, for proficiency in agriculture, four young farmer girls from England visited the capital last week. They are Miss Joan Moore, Leicestershire, Miss Ivy Townsend of Surrey, Miss Mildred White of Devonshire, and Miss Emma Adcock of Middlesex. They are accompanied by Miss Wolfe Murray, a young woman journalist from London. During their stay in Edmonton, the young farmerettes paid a visit to the University farm and also to the government farm at Oliver. They will be given a short course at the University of Agriculture and also at the University of Alberta. Four young boys, from similar farmer clubs in Britain, are already undergoing a course at the Alberta agricultural schools, having been brought out by President Benty of the C.P.R.

Public Welfare Nurses
The districts of Drummheller and Vercelle have now made arrangements to employ the services of public health nurses in accordance with the offer of the provincial government to bear half the cost, the municipalities concerned to bear the other half. The various municipal and village councils concerned in the two districts have ratified the arrangement. It is expected that other districts in the province will follow suit shortly.

Toronto to Peace River by Car
On his way to Peace River, where he will take up farming, R. Servant and his family of five passed through Edmonton last week, having driven all the way by motor.

Successful Strawberry Growing
A Raymond, Alberta, woman, Mrs. Holmes, has been making a success of a half acre of strawberries, from which she has netted as high as $400 in one season. Strawberries are now raised to a considerable extent in various parts of the province.

Poultry Marketing Branch
A branch of the provincial government egg and poultry marketing service has been opened at Lethbridge.

Opening of Banff Road
The official opening of the new Banff-Windermere highway, which is the first highway to be completed over the Canadian Rockies, and is the last link of the grand circle international tour, will take place on June 30, the Lieutenant Governors of Alberta and British Columbia officiating. Arrangements are being made to handle a large number of visitors, many of whom will be from the other side of the border.

Heavy Rainfalls
In the past week, heavy rains have been recorded at several points in the province, and the general moisture conditions over the entire province continue to be very satisfactory. During the week the weather bureau recorded rainfall at the following points up to Friday noon.

Foremost 3.21 inches; Macleod 2.42; Lethbridge, 4.01; Medicine Hat 2.42; Calgary, 2.25; Empress 1.36; Youngstown 4.31; Red Deer 1.39; Drummheller .70; Stettler 1.32; Vegreville 2.1; Edmonton .26; Lloydminster .01; Coramaton .01 inches. Rain was also reported at Peace River and Lerroy.

Increase in Creameries
Fifteen more creameries have been put into operation this year than there were in operation last year. There are now 69 of these, in place of 54 last year. There are 13 cheese factories in operation this year also.

Wheat Board Abandoned
It has been announced from Winnipeg that Premier Greenfield and Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan have abandoned their efforts to organize a wheat board under legislation passed by the federal and provincial governments. It was stated that it was found impossible to secure responsible men to accept membership on the board. The action of Manitoba in declining to pass similar legislation to that of Alberta and Saskatchewan made it more difficult to organize the board, it was stated.

GWYNNE

The regular Sunshine meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. P. Doel on July 5. Everyone welcome. Come and bring a visitor with you.

We are glad to report that little L. Johnson, who had the misfortune to fall from a hay loft and break her leg, is improving nicely.

The regular meeting of the U.F.A. and U.F.W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. Fred Freeman on July 7th.

MILLET

Great interest is being taken in the Millet board of trade baseball tournament which will take place at the Millet fair grounds, on Monday July 2. The following teams have entered: Hurd Lake, Wetsaskiwin, Conjouring Creek and Millet. We will not doubt hear from Wetsaskiwin and Lethbridge.

The baseball cup is now on view at Whyte & Orr's hardware store, and is a magnificent specimen. When the Millet board of trade do anything it is usually done properly.

July 2nd will be a big day and the annual board of trade dance will take place in the evening at Pinyon's hall. P. Fraser is enlarging his restaurant and will soon have eight rooms over the restaurant and pool room.

Mr. and Mrs. Thredgold and family left on Tuesday for Spokane.

Another booth is being added to the sports grounds near the baseball diamond.

The road ten miles west of Millet needs dragging in the worst way. Possibly some of those interested will get busy. It sure needs it.

SUMMER COMPLAINT IS FATAL TO CHILDREN

Summer Complaint is one of the most dangerous diseases of children during the hot summer months. It is a disease of children, but the old and the young are equally affected and the weak are all affected alike.

The attack may be slight or it may be severe, but you can't tell when it seizes you whether it will end fatally or not. Allow the prodigious amount of vomiting and purging to continue for a day or two and you will quickly become weak and prostrated.

Just as soon as there is a sign of the bowels becoming unduly loosened up you should get a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and check these unnatural movements and thus quickly arrest the vomiting, purging and diarrhoea.

Mrs. S. Lafontaine, Great Desert, Ont., writes: "My baby, when a year old, was suffering with summer complaint. Two doctors attended him, but nothing would stop the vomiting and diarrhoea. A friend told me to try Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and after the second dose the baby was better, and I can say it saved my baby's life. I would not be without a bottle of it for anything. It is the best remedy I have ever heard of for summer complaint."

Price 10c a bottle; put up only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CROP REPORT OF BANK OF MONTREAL

Montreal, June 21—Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the head office of the Bank of Montreal from its many branches. The branch managers have complete and intimate knowledge of each local situation and are in close touch with crop conditions in all of the districts mentioned.

General—From almost every section of the prairies the report comes that during the critical early period of growth, moisture has been ample for the grain. Weather conditions are generally favorable; prospects are good throughout. Manitoba and Saskatchewan, while in Alberta they are more favorable than they have been for many years. In Quebec and the Maritime provinces crops are backward, but are growing rapidly. In Ontario good growing weather has made up for the backward spring, and fall wheat is already heading out, a good average crop being assured. In British Columbia crops, orchards and pasturage are all in good condition.

Edmonton District—Prospects very favorable; moisture abundant, except in northwestern and southeastern sections.

Calgary District—Prospects excellent.

Regina District—Seeding completed, hot weather following heavy rains have advanced crops rapidly; cutworm and grasshoppers in evidence in southwestern part of province. Conditions generally favorable, hay crop fair, pastures good.

Winnipeg District—Prospects seem favorable, although rain would be welcome in central and southern Manitoba. Wheat, especially the early sown, is in good condition; coarse grains fair; no damage to crops from recent wind storm; pasture and hay fairly good.

Making The Best Use Of Experimental Farm Seed

Many farmers this spring will have obtained seed grain of special breeding from either the Central Experimental farm, Ottawa, or from one of the branch farms or agricultural colleges throughout Canada. From the former institution alone samples of seed grain, varying from 10 to 100 pounds each, were sent to 15,476 farmers who had applied for same. In the case of most of the other institutions, considerable quantities also were supplied. These samples, if carefully handled, be they large or small, may form the basis of a supply of superior seed for the farm and sometimes for the neighborhood. A word regarding the handling of the foundation plots should be of value.

First of all the grower should aim to propagate this seed so as to obtain therefrom the greatest quantity of high class seed for use the following year. The first consideration therefore should be the seed bed, and the second the method of seeding. While it is now too late to consider these points this year, a reference to them may be of value later.

The seed bed should be well prepared, well drained and in a high state of fertility to obtain maximum returns. It is a good plan to regard the foundation plot as a garden which usually receives a little extra treatment. As to the method of seeding, it is found that by sowing thinly, greater gross returns are likely to be realized than by sowing at the usual rate. In other words, one can afford to be extravagant of land in order to secure the greatest possible increase from the seed sown. Before commencing operations, however, care should be taken to see that the seed drill is absolutely clean. Precaution should also be taken to see that the plot is isolated a sufficient distance from the poultry house to prevent injury by fowl.

Since there are many ways in which other kinds of grain may find entrance into the plot, it is advisable that the growing crop on this plot be watched carefully and all foreign plants removed by hand before or during harvest. In ordinary practice a few heads of barley or wheat or even other kinds of oats in a plot of oats might not be of great consequence, but since these impurities are liable to increase in the crop and since they are not wanted by people who are looking for pure seed, it is well worth while to remove them.

Investigation has shown that grain which has been allowed to mature is likely to be more productive than grain which is cut on the green side. It is recommended therefore that the foundation plot be allowed to become thoroughly mature before harvesting. The harvesting and threshing of the plot should be performed carefully so as to prevent contamination, all machinery being thoroughly cleaned before beginning operations. The seed should be put into bags, covered bins or boxes immediately upon its removal from the threshers. Care should be taken also when cleaning the seed to see that the fanning mill as well as the containers in which the seed is to be

It's Nice To Eat Anything You Like AND NOT HAVE HEARTBURN

In the case of heartburn there is a gnawing and burning pain in the stomach attended by a disturbed appetite, caused by the general acidity, as when too much food is taken it is liable to sour and become extremely sour, vomiting occurs, and what is thrown up is sometimes sour and bitter.

Mr. Joseph H. MacDonald, Christmas Island, N.S., writes:—"Two years ago I suffered all the time from heartburn. I took one vial of Milburn's Laxative Pills and have never been troubled since."

It is very nice to be able to eat anything you like and not have heartburn any more.

Milburn's Laxative Pills are 25c a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct at receipt of price by The F. J. Milburn Co. Limited, Toronto, Ont.

SIFTON FORSEES AN EXODUS OF PEOPLE BY RUIN OF FORESTS

(By Hon. Sir Clifford Sifton)

It seems self-evident that if the plague of forest fires in Canada is permitted to continue, the exodus of population from our timber growing areas cannot very well be prevented. We have a large percentage of Canada's habitable area unfit for farming. That percentage must produce timber and mines or be eliminated from our state of assets. From the point of view of fire damage we may omit consideration of mines. Thus, if we allow the ravages of forest conflagrations to continue at the present pace, it is only a question of a relatively few years until we force from our northern areas the great body of our population and all municipalities subsisting on forest manufactures.

I regard the forest not as a mass of trees but as the raw material of industrial expansion and of prolific employment, and as the sustainer of our thousands of municipalities dependent on wood-using industries. It is much more intelligent to discern in a "brush-fire" the destruction of a multitude of pay envelopes. It drives the plain facts home when we visualize every human-caused forest fire as a blow to our national well-being that will require three quarters of a century to repair.

As the situation now stands, Canada should gain enormously from the simple fact of possessing great spruce areas with excellent water powers to make utilization effective and relatively cheap. To the south we have a partially deforested nation, exhibiting an insatiable demand for the products of a spruce forest, chiefly newsprint paper. Even as England's coal served to enrich her during the last century or more so Canada's spruce and pine forests should be taken as representing a commercial center as most unmatched by anything else we possess except agricultural land.

Are we to tolerate a condition where with every forest area on a rising market, our own citizens with a false notion of personal license, shall continue to start four thousand forest fires a year, killing the very resource from which the industrial workers of Canada stand to profit most? I believe the provincial governments could well afford to spend on forest fire prevention every dollar that the forest revenues up to a point where the forest capital ceases to absorb annual depletion. If even one-half of the millions of forest taxation were spent on the most modern systems of forest protection we would rapidly diminish our shocking annual losses of timber and go far toward placing the timber resources on a business-like basis.

MAKING HAY OF SWEET CLOVER OR OF ALFALFA

One of the difficulties in the way of the adoption of sweet clover and alfalfa in a more general way throughout the west is the fact that they are much difficult to handle in curing for hay than the grasses. They are much harder to dry out and more subject to damage. While it is hardly accurate to consider the two crops in the same way yet there is enough similarity that the same treatment may be given for both. The difference is one of degree rather than kind. Sweet clover presents the same kind of difficulties as alfalfa but in a much greater degree.

These difficulties are due to a very heavy juicy stem which is slow to dry out and to the leaves which dry very thickly and when dry become brittle and break off. The stems of the sweet clover being much larger and the leaves fewer the difficulty is greatly increased with that crop.

Now these difficulties are by no means insurmountable. They have been presented frankly so that new growers of these crops will find them stand very hard to be handled differently. But if they are handled properly alfalfa at least can be made into the very finest quality of hay, and sweet clover into what is at the least, edible and palatable.

The crucial point in making is the prevention of too rapid drying of the leaves. The moisture that must be expelled before the green fodder becomes hay is mostly in the stems. The leaves are the means of pumping this out of the stems. So long as the leaves are moist they are evaporating moisture, but when they dry up, they are closed as avenues of evaporation, and the juice in the stems remains.

Then the leaves are the most valuable part of the plants for feed. They are richer in food elements and more digestible than the stems. If they become so dried as to break off, which they readily do, the loss of food value is serious.

The way, therefore, to handle these crops is to dry them in coils, and not spread out. They should be raked up and coiled before the leaves dry. In bright hot weather they should be raked and coiled the same day as cut, in cloudy weather the next day will be about right. Hand made coils are of course, best, but under present labor conditions hardly practicable if any considerable area is grown. The bunches made by the horse rake are not so good but are much better than not coiling at all. Small coils are best; large ones become too solid so and instead of drying the hay turns yellow. The hay should be left in the coil for several days, depending on the weather. In judging of the fitness of alfalfa for storage, the moisture in the stems should be judged rather than the leaves. It should not be possible to twist juice out of the stems. The day that hauling is done, the coils should be upset and the bottoms loosened out a few hours before hauling so that the dampness may be dried out of the lower layers. In order to make the best use of sweet clover for hay it may be grown not necessary to mix alfalfa with it. mixed with timothy grass. This mixture is much easier to make into hay. If it is mixed with grass, western grass than the sweet clover alone. It is grass is the best to mix with it.

PROPER CARE OF THE CAR

To be sure that a car will give dependable service, it should be inspected thoroughly at least once a week. This inspection should include: Seeing that the tires are inflated to the prescribed pressure; inspecting the steering apparatus to make sure that all connections are tight; testing the battery and filling with distilled water. In addition be sure that the car has the proper amount of oil in the crank case, and that the cooling system is filled with water. The instructions for lubrication should be followed very carefully as the efficient performance and the life of the whole machine depends upon proper oiling and greasing more than on any other one thing.

Nuts set into inaccessible places can be tightened or removed by the use of two wrenches and a monkey or pipe wrench. The end wrenches are joined; one is fitted to the nut and the monkey wrench is then fitted to the end of the second end wrench. Then by careful twisting the nut can be tightened or loosened.

THE STAR AUTOMOBILE HAS ARRIVED LOCALLY

Sims-Brown Co., agents here for the Star and other automobiles of the Durant manufacture, received a touring model of the Star last week, which has already been sold and delivered to Dr. D. J. Sweeney. This marks the advent of another new make of car to the city, and it appears to be the forerunner of a goodly number of this light automobile.

It is built by the Durant Motors of Canada, at Leaside, Toronto, and is available in eight different models, built on a standard chassis, ranging from a chassis to a sedan, and including models of roadster, touring, coupe, delivery wagon, etc.

The Star has a wheelbase of 102 inches, selective transmission, Continental rear seal motor, Timken front and rear axles, single plate disc clutch in flywheel, Auto-Lite starting and generating mechanism, water pump, vacuum tank, oil pump and the Durant tubular backbone, which acts as a truss making the frame rigid, and protecting the body and chassis parts from road shocks, besides many other standard and improved features.

Only a year ago last February the announcement was made that a new four cylinder car built entirely of the highest type of standard units would be produced by Durant to sell at a new low price. This was the first knowledge the public had of the coming of the Star car. Nothing of the kind had ever been attempted before. Three weeks later the first model was shown to the public. 44,000 Star cars have been built and sold since that time. And it is claimed that if production facilities were sufficient to manufacture them, many more would have been sold. Only four other manufacturers of automobiles in the world built more cars in the first quarter of this year than the total production of Star cars.

AUTOISTS MUST HELP TO CHECK CAR STEALING

Increased thefts of motor cars and accessories have brought the motorist to realize that he must take extra precaution with his machine and equipment. Although the car owner cannot entirely eliminate this menace he can certainly do something towards protecting the car and its fittings.

The average motorist would not think of leaving his house without first locking it securely, yet he will drive up in front of a business establishment leaving his car, without even locking the ignition switch, to say nothing of the accessories on his car or the coats or robes that are left in it.

There are a number of types of locks on the market today that aid in fending off the thief and new ones are constantly being brought out. An ingenious inventor has devised a lock that may be used as a general all around lock for the car. Necessity called for a lock that would protect a robe from being stolen and this lock was the answer. Its uses are varied and it may also be used for securing suitcases or hand grips to the steering wheel or foot rail.

STOPPING SPRINGS FROM SQUEAKING

When they leave the factory, auto springs have graphite between their leaves, to prevent their rusting together, to reduce interior friction during deflection—thus making them more pliant—and primarily to eliminate squeaking. Water and grit finally displace the graphite, the springs may become appreciably stiffer and probably they begin to squeak unbecomingly. Some claim that they are liable to break when leaf lubrication is absent, and this is probably a fact if the leaves have actually rusted together. The most generally applicable method of leaf lubrication seems to be the following: Clean off the springs thoroughly, removing all grit from between the edges of the leaves particularly with a stiff brush, then stir up a small amount of flake graphite in cylinder oil and apply this mixture with a paint brush, working it well into the spaces between the edges of the leaves and around the ends of the short ones, where they overlap the long ones. Have someone on the running board "joggle" the car violently to make the springs deflect and thus work in the lubricant. If this procedure is repeated one or twice before the car is again washed, the oil will find its way between the leaves and squeaking will be prevented at least for a time, this treatment usually being sufficient to keep the springs in good condition until the next overhauling, when the car frame can be jacked up to unload them, the leaves separated by loosening the clips and prying apart and graphite grease spread between the leaves by means of a knife.

WANT MORE POWER? SELECT YOUR OIL!

When your motor gets wheezy or starts to knock, and seems to have lost its old pep and newness, it is time to think about using a different motor oil.

Possibly it has never occurred to you that different motor oil might give your motor more power. Most of us think of power as a matter of engine design and fuel. Let it's a fact that oil has a great deal to do with power. Lubrication experts say that almost any motor is well enough designed to handle ordinary hills, provided that motor has not been abused by improper lubrication.

Just how motor oil influences power is very simple. An important function of lubricating oil is to fill up the space between the cylinder wall and the piston rings. If this seal is perfect, there can be no loss of compression. No power escapes past the rings.

A proper piston seal is also important to prevent raw gasoline getting into the crankcase and diluting the oil. Oil dilution is dangerous. Too much dilution seriously affects the oil's lubricating qualities; and serious damage, such as burned out bearings, scored cylinders, and so on, may result. Too great dilution is usually noticeable through your oil pressure gauge.

Study lubrication. Appreciate the fact that proper lubrication is the very life of your motor; that the character of the oil you use makes or breaks that motor; and that good oil will not only increase power, but save you a lot of money in gas consumption and repair bills. If your motor is perfectly lubricated it will run forever. Moral: Get the best oil you can.

How you can get the best oil

All motor oils look alike; but they're not. And poor oils cause most of your motor troubles. Poor oils don't lubricate as well; and usually cause hard carbon deposits.

SUNOCO THE DISTILLED OIL

is just pure lubricant. It contains no "cylinder stock." Because it's pure it reduces carbon troubles, and after hundreds of miles it retains its lubricating qualities. If you could test Sunoco that's been used 800 miles, comparing it with ordinary oil used for the same distance, you'd see the difference. Many mechanics can feel the difference.

We made careful tests to find the best oil for your car—and every other car. We found it—Sunoco.

There are six types of Sunoco—all distilled. One of them is best for your car. Ask any Sunoco dealer for a booklet, "What's Happening Inside Your Motor?" It will tell you a number of facts you ought to know.

DECLARES TANLAC ENDED INDI-GESTION AND ASTHMA WHEN

ALL ELSE FAILED

"I thought all advertised medicines were about alike until I took Tanlac, and I want to say right here I haven't seen its equal in all my sixty years' experience," says William Sadd, of 23 Matherly St., Hamilton, Ont.

"For six years, nearly I used Tanlac
I got in a weakened and run down condition every spring, and was so stuffed up with asthma and hay fever
I could hardly breathe. I was so nervous at night that I would walk the floor. What I ate nauseated me, I had knife-like pains in my stomach and across my back, and could hardly sleep over to lace my shoes.

"The Tanlac treatment is the only medicine that ever helped me, but it fixed me up so fine I am not bothered any more with my old troubles. A little Tanlac now and then keeps me in fine shape, and I feel as active as I did thirty years ago."

"Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

CONTROLLING
THE MOSQUITO

The discomfort caused by this pest during the early summer months leads not only the scientist but the man on the street to consider whether the pest cannot be controlled. The question often asked, "Of what value is the mosquito?" has not been satisfactorily answered. Fortunately, methods of controlling this insect have been discovered and are being applied with greater or less success. Portions of the tropics would, perhaps, never have been made habitable for the white man had not successful methods been discovered both open ponds and marshy spots clothed in dense willow growth.

The means employed in the tropics have been found applicable to other places.

It has long been understood that the multiplication of the mosquito depends upon pools or areas of water, where larvae were found. Coal oil alone was used, as it was feared that owing to cold nights, heavier oil would not become thoroughly distributed. Although a number of inassailable places were missed, the results of the oiling were very marked.

It is estimated that seventy-five per cent of control was realized, to an article describing this work, the author states that the town of Hamilton and vicinity was rendered comparatively free from the pest.

Good Advertising Pays Its Own Way

To Advertise Is One Thing---To Advertise At A Profit Is The Real Objective

Good and bad seasons are largely a state of mind. The man who is big enough to make his own conditions never has any "bad" seasons.
Equalizing business throughout the year is simply a matter of education—education by way of intelligent advertising.

Wm. Thompson, north of the city, states that he has eight acres of wheat which will average 35 inches in height over the whole field. Asked regarding other grains, Mr. Thompson says "Everything's just about 'in' up."

In reporting the accident to Wm. Dous in last issue, we stated that he fell from the pole, but this is incorrect, as as soon as the wires were cut from the pole, it fell down, taking him with it, the pole being completely rotted off at the ground.

Reports on Canada's Crops

At frequent intervals throughout the season the Bank of Montreal issues reports on the progress of the crops in Canada. These reports, telegraphed to headquarters from the Managers of the Bank's 600 Branches, cover every Province and form a reliable index of crop conditions.

NEW TESTING DEVICE

A useful device for motor testing consists of a telephone band with a 75-ohm telephone receiver mounted on one end and a flashlight battery. This will detect shorts and grounds that will not show on a voltmeter.

By the use of the battery one of the wires is attached to the frame of the car and the other on a grounded wire. If any of the electrical connections of the motor are short-circuited sharp clicks will be heard from the receiver by making and breaking the connection on the frame of the car.
